

Cassina

Philippe Starck and Cassina continue the evolution an eclectic collection:

Caprice and Passion

A vast collection suitable for a range of environments.

First introduced into the Cassina Collection in 2007, the Caprice and Passion chairs have evolved into a complete collection of models for the home, office and public areas.

Cassina and internationally renowned creator Philippe Starck now introduce a 360° swivel bar stool with a stem base and a series of tables with a stem or two leg base, perfect for residential or contract use.

« I had a caprice: to try to reach the minimum, cleaner and cleaner, and to check in History what the elegance of minimum could be.

It has now been done with new Caprice. » Philippe Starck

Product of the most advanced manufacturing process.

The cutting-edge innovation of the Caprice and Passion bar stools highlights Cassina's skill in developing complex projects. A steel structure, available in two heights, supports the same characteristic nylon shell as the other models of the collection. An automatic mechanism guarantees that the shell realigns with the stool's footrest.

Quilted or smooth padded upholstery in leather or fabric is closely fitted to the chair like a tailored garment, naturally welcoming the body to create a fluid design.
